Serenade—"Dream On." March—"Carolina." Ice cream and other refreshments will be served at the same time the proceeds to go toward purchasing uniforms for the band. The boys have made remarkable progress lately and are now able to furnish good music. They deserve the encouragement of the public. Let everybody go out.

"Aunt" Fanny Pigg, a well known and much respected Louisa, died last Sunday night. On the night of August 14, she fell down a stairway at the residence of her son-in-law, Russ Thompson, on Lock avenue, thereby sustaining injuries from which she died as stated. Mrs. Pigg was the widow of James Pigg, who died many years ago. She was a woman of great kindness of heart and much sought after during sickness. She leaves three sons, Dan, Sam and Jim, and three daughters, two of whom are married. Mrs. Pigg was 79 years of age. She had been for many years a member of the M. E. Church. The funeral service was held by the pastor, Mr. Grizzle, at the church and burial was at Pine Hill.

We clip the following good words from the Kentucky Sunday School Reporter:

Lawrence is the home of our new Field Worker, Mr. W. J. Vaughan. Though one of the largest and roughest counties in the State, it is one of the best organized. It is an inspiration to hear Mr. Vaughan tell of the splendid progress made through the organized work. The convention this year was held in one edge of the county on one of the hottest of the hot days in July, but it was a good convention notwithstanding Mr. Vaughan, with the assistance of the president, Mr. Burns, has developed some fine workers all over the county. They are all enthusiastic for the Sunday School.

R. A. Peller, of Pikeville, was in Louisa a few hours Saturday. Mr. Peller is a native of the West, but some twenty years ago he went to Pikeville and in due course of time married, won and lost a daughter of John Hatcher, of Pike. He has flourished ever since, a fact which carries its own lesson. Mr. Peller is a big stockholder in a big company, the old Sandy Company, a corporation which made possible the C. & D. branch up Marrowbone, the said big Sandy the paying one-half the cost of construction.

Mrs. W. J. Rice, President of the Louisa Woman's Christian Temperance Union, made a good speech on which she explained the working of the W. C. T. U. to the enthusiastic audience. It was decided to organize the county into a W. C. T. U. and Mrs. Rice and Mrs. F. T. H. Wallace, Sr., of Louisa, and members of the W. C. T. U. of Louisa, were invited to come here next Monday and organize a W. C. T. U. at Paintsville. Ashland Independent.

Chief M. Elam has gone to New Mexico to take the principalship of the public schools at Santa Rita. Santa Rita is a gold mining town situated in the southwestern part of the Territory. It is a town of about 1000 inhabitants. This is an excellent position for Mr. Elam as the schools run for a term of nine months and the position pays $50 per month. He is a son of Prof. H. M. Elam and is a thorough education.

The venerable John M. Burns, of Ashland, accompanied by his wife, were the recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Burns. Mentally and physically John Burns, "Scotch" if the oldest time, is one of the best preserved men of his age anywhere. His eighty-two years still lightly upon him, his mind being vigorous and his step as light as the tread of a man of sixty.

Several hundred black bass from the Government Hatchery at Washington were put into the river at this place last week. If the pot-fisherman as well as the pot-hunter could be held within due bounds the big Sandy river would within a few years literally swarm with fish.

Lace Wellman and Miss Josie Maynard were married last Thursday evening at the residence of the bride in Cassville. Mr. Wellman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wellman and a nephew of Mrs. S. F. Hedges. The bride is a daughter of Dan Maynard.

Much interest is felt in the camp meeting at the Johns grove. Rain has greatly interfered with the meeting, but last Sunday the attendance was very large. The camp will continue until Sunday. There have been a great many conversions and the religious feeling is very deep.

The horse thief who was arrested recently in Cassville and held until identified was tried a few days ago at Wayne and sentenced by the court to serve eight years in the penitentiary. We take off our hat to Judge Wilkerson.

Julio Bromley has purchased a half interest in the prosperous shoe and furnishings store of H. H. Hagan and will devote his time to the business. He is a popular young man of integrity and good business ability, and he and his worthy partner make a strong combination.

STHAY TOW—A red shorthorn bull, with a few white spots in the flanks, disappeared on the night of the 11th. Will pay any one for trouble of bringing him in.

Northern Michigan.

Judging from my own experience, I take it that few residents of Louisa and the big Sandy Valley have the slightest conception of the enormous extent of the copper mining industry in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. This peninsula, known as Keweenaw Point, is a tongue of land projecting out into Lake Superior, and called the Northern Peninsula, or Upper Peninsula, to distinguish it from the main body of the State, which itself is a peninsula between Lake Huron and Lake Michigan, called the Lower Peninsula.

Across this tongue of land near its base is a narrow strip of water, Portage Lake, which together with Portage river on the east and Portage Canal on the west separates the point from the mainland. The most valuable copper mines in the world are situated in the immediate vicinity of this Portage Lake, a spot to which nature has been more than generous. The white pine timber has made northern Michigan famous, the copper makes this one of the richest sections in the world, and the navigable water brings here freight and passenger boats, which are surpassed by few ocean steamers in beauty and efficiency.

Just now Sunday there is a "freighter" at the dock unloading her cargo of coal amounting to 5,200 tons. Imagine this load dumped in Louisa. Ask John Jones how many years it would run Louisa, and ask Col. Northrup how many acres of the average coal mine it would take to furnish this amount of marketable coal. At a rough guess, I should say it would fill Uncle Roland Burns's vacant lot to the top of the fence or more and would last Louisa five or six years. Yet other big loads of coal are coming in here daily and they are hauled away to the mines as fast as they come.

The timber is practically all gone from this section and the conditions are not favorable for agricultural pursuits, so that all the activity shown here is due to the copper mining industry, and you do not wonder at the amount of coal coming in daily when you visit the stamp mill of a single mining company (the largest here, by the way) and see where in one boiler room they are using the train loads of coal daily. A train load on the mine roads consists of thirteen cars of ten tons each, making 260 tons in the two train loads. The stamp mill is the place where the rock containing the copper is stamped (crushed) and washed until the copper is separated from the crushed rock. This is only a portion of the work necessary to get the copper out of the ground and put it in a marketable condition, and this 260 tons represents only one third of the coal consumed daily by the Calumet & Hecla Mining Co. still it is not a small quantity. It would make about eight or ten of our big Sandy car loads, and would last the average family in Louisa a few weeks at least.

With this enormous consumption of coal and the consequent generation of power, it would occur to us at once that there "must be something doing" in the Upper Peninsula and we are convinced of this fact when we take a stroll down to the docks and see three huxes of copper ore stacked up like cordwood to the value of about $100,000.00. A year or two ago a single boat load was taken from here valued at $2,000,000.00. The freighters that bring in these heavy loads of coal usually take out heavier loads of copper. To haul this immense amount of copper together with many times its weight in the rock which contains it to the surface from a mile down in the ground, to separate it from the rock, and to refine it in the smelting furnace, requires not small amount of power.

It seems almost incredible that this production could continue long, yet there is no indication that the next few years will see the present rate materially diminished. When we stand at the mouth of one of the many working mines here and see load after load of copper laden rock roll out upon the floor of the rock-house, as if by magic, we think surely, this can not continue long; but if we return the next day, month, or year, the tons are still rolling out.

It is not unusual to get a single hux of copper out of the ground weighing hundreds of pounds, and even a ton. I believe the largest mass ever brought to the surface weighed 6,000 pounds.

If any of the readers are sufficiently interested to get the editor to call for it, I shall be pleased to write more in detail about the operations of mining, refining, and refining copper. A big Sandy Boy.

Judge Andy Axler died at his home in Pikeville Tuesday night. He had been a very prominent figure in this State, having been Attorney General, Chief Justice, and Attorney and Circuit Judge. Judge Axler was a brainy man, popular and genial in manner. He was closely related to Mrs. Cynthia Stewart of this place.

Several Louisians went to Pikeville on the Elk excursion and they were unanimous in expressions of satisfaction and delight. They left here about 8:30 in the morning, returned safe about half past nine p. m. The band accompanying the Lodge played some fine music during the half hour stop at Louisa.

The C. & D. putting in a very large water plug at this place for the use of its engines. It is located about half way between Madison and Franklin streets and is between the two tracks. The water will be supplied by the reservoir and the work is to be done under the supervision of Superintendent Ridenbaugh, of the C. & D.

Our bread can be had at all stores except Sullivan's. R. H. Walter.

Moonshine Still Raided.

The Lexington Leader says: During the past week Division Deputy Collectors W. J. Seltz, of West Liberty, and L. T. McClure, of Louisa, both attached to the Lexington Internal Revenue office, captured and destroyed two illicit distilleries on Laurel Creek in Elliott county. In one instance the deputies were engaged on the roadside taking an affidavit relative to some violations of the internal revenue laws, when by chance smoke was discovered rising above the tops of the forest trees near the head of a distant ravine. The whole surroundings immediately took on an air of suspicion and the officers imagined they could scent the odor of a sour mash moonshine.

Following a narrow and winding pathway leading in the direction from whence the smoke had been seen, the lawmen of the officers were abruptly turned to reality when their eyes fell upon a complete moonshine distillery in full blast, snugly built under a high cliff at the head of the ravine. The ever alert officers had evidently caught a glimpse of the officers in time to make good their escape into the dense forest surrounding the still. The outfit was destroyed by the officers, as required by law.

The deputies about evened up honors as to alertness in the discovery of this distillery, as it was the eagle eye of Deputy Seltz that first saw the smoke, while Deputy McClure almost simultaneously remarked "I smell moonshine."

Sandy Hook, Ky., Aug. 12.—One of the most daring captures of moonshine still and outfit was made Thursday on Laurel Creek, three miles from this place, by Deputy Collectors W. J. Seltz and L. T. McClure. This county has been troubled much lately by illicit distilling and selling, and Collector Roberts instructed Deputies McClure and Seltz to make a thorough investigation and secure affidavits and other information. Thursday they called to take affidavit of some parties on Laurel Creek, and when on top of the mountain discovered smoke coming from a ravine and concluded it was a moonshine still in operation. They cut over a road to within 100 yards of the place and walked on down toward the place and discovered that a moonshine still was in operation, but the parties operating the same had escaped through the brush. They destroyed the entire outfit, consisting of one 60 gallon still and worm, 85 fermenters, one flake stand, one 10 gallon of moonshine whisky, 20 gallons of singhins, 600 gallons of beer and a general outfit to operate said still. This is probably the first raid of this kind made by the deputies without any posse or assistance in this district. The good people of Elliott county are congratulating Deputies McClure and Seltz, as the still had caused much trouble in this community and was being operated by a desperate gang of moonshiners.

At noon Wednesday at the bride's residence Mrs. Lou Hattfield was married to Lige Gambill, formerly of this county, but now a prosperous farmer of Greenville, Mrs. Gambill is a sister of Major B. J. Burchett and is a most excellent and highly respected woman.

Mr. Gambill formerly lived at Blaine and is a very worthy citizen. This is the second venture of both parties on the matrimonial sea, and the NEWS wishes them a safe and prosperous voyage. Rev. S. F. Reynolds was the officiating minister.

Saturday and Sunday is the occasion of the 11th quarterly meeting at the M. E. Church South, Rev. S. A. Donahoe, Presiding Elder, will hold the quarterly conference Saturday at 8 p. m. and preach at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. on the Sabbath. A full attendance of the official membership is urged at the conference, and those who are not official members are invited alike to the conference and the Sabbath services. O. F. Williams, Pastor.

For several days a rumor has been current hereabouts that Jay O'Banion, one of Lawrence county's best young men, had suffered amputation of one leg. One rumor was that he had died, it was said that he had had a scratch on the leg and that from this blood poisoning had ensued. We have been unable to learn whether this story is true or not, but we sincerely hope it is without foundation in fact.

Misses Belle Cummings, Jean Adams, Ethel Spencer, Emma Carey, Lella Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Hinkle, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Burns, Mrs. Robt. Burchett, Mrs. Jeff Justice, Mrs. A. W. Bromley, Mrs. Jas. Vinson and daughters, George and Lou, C. T. Rule, Ernest Shannon and A. C. Pigg went to Pikeville with the anti-herd hosts from Catlettsburg Tuesday.

We have received a beautifully printed pamphlet containing the program of the Kentucky State Fair, which will be held at Lexington, Sept. 18 to 23 inclusive. Much preparation is being made to make the fair a notable one.

J. H. Ashworth, of Ashland, and Miss Eva Collinsworth, of Ashland, Ky., were quietly married in the parlor of the Hotel Mansard at Catlettsburg, in the presence of the bride's mother and brother, Mrs. Collinsworth and Lindsay Collinsworth.

Tom Grizzle, while amusing himself by swinging from Pierce & Derrick's awning Friday fell and cut a deep gash in his countenance. Perhaps if the audience against this sort of amusement were enforced there would be fewer bruises.

E. B. Marshall Salver brought in Fluvio House yesterday from Cherokee upon a charge of taking from post office mail belonging to another and destroying same. He will have a hearing before Commissioner Burns.

PUBLIC IS AROUSED

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medical tonic, Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys, Mary H. Walters, of 516 St. Clair Ave., Columbus, O., writes: "For several months I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were weak, I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak, from useless doctor's drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at A. M. Hughes' drug store, price 50c.

Col. Henry Watterson, the famous Kentucky editor, has arrived in New York from a long tour abroad on the White Star liner Despatch, tonight expressed his belief that the Portsmouth peace conference will result in an agreement leading to an adjustment agreeable to both countries of his strife between Russia and Japan. "Do you think President Roosevelt will be called in as peacemaker?" he was asked. "My idea is," he replied, "that Baron Komura and Mr. White will come to an agreement. However, if they do not, it is likely that President Roosevelt will be called in to give advice. In speaking of sociological conditions abroad Mr. Watterson said: "There is a great difference in society in the two continents for this reason: In Europe it is only the nobility, or those who have made themselves prominent in life by successful political endeavor, that attain positions in the best society. In the United States society runs from dealers in pure whiskey to Standard Oil." "How about J. Pierpont Morgan whose people were poor, and who has been entertained by various Kings while on the other side?" he was asked. "I looked for that question," he said, "lighting his cigar and whirling his mustache. 'There is no doubt that American millionaires, no matter what their ancestry, go abroad and are received by the blooded monarchs. Still, the American people are willing to buy their position in society no matter what the price is.' "Concerning "Fads and Fancies" he said: "Never heard anything about the publication until reports of the alleged expose of blackmail were printed in English papers. I always thought Town Topics was a public publication. 'The Equitable scandals have shocked me, and I believe Mr. Hyde is due to blame. I hope that a rigid investigation will be made and the guilty persons punished. 'As a Southerner, I think the cotton scandal is lamentable. It seems to show that the college man is not a success in politics.' "When reminded that Mr. Roosevelt was a college man, Mr. Watterson said: "Oh, I don't mean the President. I mean the scientific men who sell their knowledge for money and they make their reports, which belong to the Government, a matter of barter and sale." Col. Watterson was accompanied by Mrs. Watterson and their daughter, Miss Ethel. They went to Manhattan hotel, where they will spend the rest of August. "On September 1," said Col. Watterson, "I will be back in the barroom at Louisville, and will perform my work as I have done during the past twenty years."
